New consumer problems Boy, 9, hit by car, killed

By KEN THOMPSON

Press-Record Staff Writer
Families in the Quad-City area who are attempting to stockpile meat before predicted price increases when the current price ceiling is lifted Sept. 15, are facing another problem—how to store that supply.

Demand for home freezers has reached an all time high and a check of area merchants this weekend revealed that many are sold out and do not expect to receive new shipments of freezers for at least 30 days.

One customer reported he had purchased a side of beef and now he can not find a freezer in which to store it.

Robert Spaulding, assistant manager of the Franklin-Union branch here said, "Sales last week were far above average and all we have left in stock now is one small chest type freezer."

Spaulding said that his supplier has informed him that the supply cannot meet the demand and that it will be at least another month before his store receives another shipment of freezers. He said that non-food products effective stockpile.

Under the Phase Four economic controls imposed by President Nixon, companies employing fewer than 50 persons may increase prices on non-food products effective midnight yesterday, while larger companies are required to give 30-day notices of intent.

The freeze lift did not include gas and oil which remain under price control an additional week.

While the freezer shortage is creating a new problem, consumers still are faced with the problem of finding beef to stockpile.

John Tarpo of Tarpo Packing Company, which supplies many of the grocers in this area, said his firm has been closed for more than a week because of the absence of beef to process.

Also affected is the Taurus Meat Company, which supplies hotels and restaurants. Sales Manager Tommy Gushel said, "We are one of the largest suppliers in the area. We have already exhausted our supply of beef and the last of our frozen hamburger patties were delivered over the weekend."

A spokesman for the National Food Store, Madison Avenue and Nameoki Road, said, "we had to stop selling bulk orders to individuals two weeks ago in order to prevent stockpiling. All that is available to the general public is what can be found in our meat counters."

He continued, "Although National has its own cattle ranches, we are having trouble buying imported beef which we use to make hamburger."

One grocer, Tony Viviano of Viviano's Tom Boy Market in Pontiac Beach, said it has no shortage of beef or any other meat product.

"We saw the whole thing coming earlier this year," he said, "and stockpiled ourselves. We've been cutting sides of beef at a rate of one a day."

"To insure that our supply lasts through all this, we will not be selling anything more than what's being placed in the meat counters every day."

To add to the freezer seekers' problems are the warnings by Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott that the current beef shortage, coupled with rising prices of other meats, poultry and fish, presents a 'golden opportunity' for fraudulent sellers of home freezer plans.

Though there are legitimate home freezer plans operating in Illinois, Scott's Consumer Fraud and Protection Division has received a number of complaints from dissatisfied customers of fraudulent plans. No complaints have been

Man dies in crash

FATAL SCENE. Andrew Lee Washington 36, was killed at 11:25 a.m. Thursday when his pickup truck was struck by Norfolk and Western Railroad engine 1958. The auto was dragged 424 feet from the Broadway railroad crossing in Venice.

Andrew Lee Washington, 36, of St. Louis, Mo. was injured Thursday when the 1965 pickup truck he was driving was struck by Norfolk and Western Railroad engine No. 1958 at the Broadway railroad crossing in Venice.

The pickup was eastbound on Broadway and the train was southbound on the railroad tracks when the crash occurred. According to the police report the train had its head light on, whistle sounding and crossing bells were sounding.

The Engineer, R. A. Morcy of Decatur, told police when he saw the vehicle go around the railroad gate on the west side he put the train on emergency stop but the truck was dragged 424 feet from the point of impact before the train came to rest.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning at Blessed Sacrament Church in St. Louis with interment in National Cemetery, Jefferson Barracks. Mr. Washington leaves a wife, Mrs. Washington and two children at home.

2 hurt on Poag Road

Harold Wondra, 22, of 640 Ashland Ave., Mitchell, was seriously injured and his passenger, David Byrum, 20, of 3829 (rear) Ralph St., was hurt, when Wondra's auto was struck and overturned at Poag Road and Route 111 at 8:15 p.m. Friday.

The men were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where Wondra was treated for a broken left leg and multiple injuries. He was transferred to Firmin Denlogue Hospital, St. Louis.

Byrum was treated for injuries to his right lower leg and was released after x-rays were taken.

Pontoon readies traffic controls

A major traffic control ordinance for Pontoon Beach has been prepared and is being studied by the village attorney, Horace Calvo, prior to adoption, it was disclosed at the Village Board's regular meeting Thursday night.

The announcement that the ordinance, regulating speed limits and intersections controls throughout the village, has been prepared, was made in response to requests by several residents of Buene Drive for a 15 miles-per-hour speed limit on their street.

They presented a petition to the board requesting the speed limit and noting that two children had been struck by a car on the street within a seven-day period.

Trustee John Cole said the limiting of speed on Buene is a part of the control ordinance which should be ready for adoption within one week. He said the board should call a special meeting to adopt the ordinance as soon as it is ready.

Objections to the condition of roads in the village were heard but board members indicated a laborers strike had halted road repairs, leaving some streets only partially repaired.

The board voted to advertise for bids on new life and health insurance policies for the village's full time policeman. A request to limit roadside parking along Pontoon Road was referred to the street committee on the recommendation of Dr. Dean Rochester, trustee.

Cole was appointed head of the village's effort during the national muscular dystrophy fund drive.

The board voted to comply with the state law allowing right turns on red traffic lights after autos stop. The law is to take effect Jan. 1, 1974.

DEEP WATER at Joy and Wayne avenues was typical of the condition of intersections throughout the Quad-City area yesterday evening. Motorists found the water a nuisance as numerous cars stalled; but children enjoyed the aftermath of the storm, wading and playing ball in the water which, in places, was two feet deep.

Lightning injures 10 in area storm

Ten persons were struck by lightning yesterday during a severe storm which caused extensive damage throughout the Quad-City area.

The storm dropped 4.25 inches of rain on the area during a short period, flooding most intersections and numerous homes and stores.

Damage also was reported from hail measured at two and a half inches in diameter in West Granite City.

A group of motorcyclists who were standing under a tree on the south end of Chouteau Island for protection from the storm were hurt when lightning struck the tree.

Injured and taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital were William Crucial, 43, his son, Billy, 17, and daughter, Sharon, 14, all of 2387 Hodges Ave.; Roy Doyle, 15, and Paul Doyle, 15, both of St. Louis; Lousann Austin, 16, St. Louis; Michael Justice, 17, of 1916 Johnson Road; Hilda Corrado, 14, of 16 Briarcliff Drive; Sharon Wilkins, 15, of 2904 Saratoga Ave.; and Richard White, 17, of 2710 Iowa St.

Admitted were Mr. Crucial, Sharon Crucial and White. Justice was transferred to the Scott Air Force Base Hospital. The others were treated and released from the local hospital.

Injuries ranged from burns and swelling to damaged eyes. They were brought to the hospital by Gus Falter of Granite City and his son Glenn who placed everyone in their personal van for the trip.

In downtown Granite City, storm sewers backed up and water and fuel or crude oil flooded the streets and many stores. City officials said this morning they did not know how the oil got into the sewers, but it covered the streets and sidewalks downtown.

Many businesses with stores on 18th Street said this morning that they did not know if they would be able to open for business today because of all in the floors and carpets of their stores. Most reported more than an inch of water and oil in the basements.

Cleanup operations downtown began as soon as the storm ended and several barrels of detergent, donated by Granite City Steel Co., reportedly were used in an attempt to clean streets and sidewalks downtown. The cleanup was continuing this morning.

At the construction site of the new Netherland United Methodist Church, 20th Street and Delmar Avenue, a work superintendent said this

Fire damages Gaslight unit

Fire caused damage estimated between $5,000 and $6,000 at a Gaslight Apartments building at 4037 Kathy Drive after lightning struck the structure at about 4:10 p.m. yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lloyd, resident managers and occupants of one of the apartments, said, "We were at home when we heard what sounded like an explosion outside."

"It was raining and hearing so heavily that we couldn't see anything when we looked outside, and didn't know what had happened until a neighbor from across the street came running over and told us that the building was on fire."

The Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department was called to extinguish the blaze, which was confined to apartment 4. The flames burned away one corner of the building.

Mrs. Lloyd said that the occupants of that apartment were not at home at the time and that there was no damage to the other apartments in the building.

A 9-year-old Granite City boy was killed at 9:45 p.m. Saturday when struck by an auto while crossing U.S. 131 at North Street, just a short distance north of the Rock Road intersection.

Perry Sexton, son of Mrs. Bonnie Sexton, 2348 Grand Ave., and Ray Sexton of Granite City, was pronounced dead upon arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

He was believed crossing U.S. 131 heading west toward Chouteau Slough Road, which parallels the Chain of Rocks Canal, at the time of the accident.

The Madison County Sheriff's office said the boy was struck by a vehicle operated by John Verbalis of Alton, who was traveling in the southbound lanes of the divided highway. Verbalis told sheriff's deputies that the intersection is unlighted and several youths apparently were trying to cross the highway at the same time.

A fourth grade pupil at McKinley Grade School, Perry was born and reared in Granite City.

Beside his parents, he is survived by three brothers, Steven, 12, Quinn, 11, and Marty, 7, all of Granite City; and his grandparents, Mrs. Sally Kimball of Granite City and Mr. and Mrs. Ray (Katie) Sexton of Dover, Tenn.

Funeral arrangements are pending. Available information is given in the obituary column.

Teacher negotiations set

Negotiations between Granite City Federation of Teachers Local 743 and the Granite City Board of Education are tentatively scheduled to resume Wednesday after a delay which began in mid-July. The groups were about $750 per teacher's annual salary, or about $65,000 apart at that time, it was announced.

Representatives of the teachers union were to meet this morning with Victor Anderson, school district controller, in an effort to clarify questions concerning the school district's financial outlook.

They then were to meet with their attorney, Ray Frearick in Belleville, to clarify legal questions in preparation for Wednesday evening's meeting. Bill Albers, president of Local 743, said today the union has received copies of the district's financial statements and projections and added, "We are evaluating this information."

The contract talks between the teachers and the school district broke off in mid-July because of questions concerning the financial status and outlook of the school district.

A preliminary statement issued last month showed a deficit at the end of the 1972-73 school year of $167,000. Aug. 7, the board approved a budget for the 1973-74 school year which shows a proposed deficit of $231,663.

Other figures the teachers wanted before resuming negotiations included the proposed state aid increase to the district for the 1973-74 school year which now has been estimated at $894,971 more than last year. Since the district received 13 payments last year rather than the normal 12, the excess is to be made up by deducting one state aid payment this year.

Due to the state aid overpayment, the district estimates it will receive an increase of $230,390 in aid during the 1973-74 year, or eleven-twelfths of the total increase.

The state aid increase is the only anticipated increase in revenue to the educational fund, administrators said. They estimated that costs in the fund, not including teacher raises, will increase $1,509,212 over last year's costs.

The figures given to the teachers for study show an increased cost to the district for cost of living provisions of $347,450, or $350 for all full-time district workers, including teachers.

The tax loss due to decreased assessed valuation in the district will decrease revenue by $256,000 and $159,000 will have to be returned to the state because of an overpayment of state aid last year.

This state aid increase is because fewer students actually attended classes than had been estimated and is not linked to the state aid decrease this year caused by the extra payment last year.

Other educational fund increases projected include

$600,000 for new teachers and staff and $186,000 in increased costs due to automatic increment raises to teachers who have advanced on the salary scale.

Figures released by the board of education showed the estimated cash flow expenses in the educational fund for the 1973-74 year as $16,965,825, and income to the fund of $14,092,377, leaving a proposed deficit in the educational fund at the end of the year of $2,873,448. These figures also are being studied by the teachers prior to the resumption of negotiations.

HURT IN CRASH

Mary Champion, 1219 Washington Ave., Madison, received minor injuries when her car and the auto of Johnny Gowdy, 416 Mercedia Ave., Venice, collided at Sixth Street and Madison Avenue in Madison at 9:55 a.m. Friday.

CAR OVERTURNS

Drive to renovate temple

Acceleration of a fund raising campaign among area Masonic families to renovate the Masonic Temple at 20th Street and Cleveland Boulevard in Masonic City is being personally contacted, the official advised.

Bolton said at least $28,000 is necessary prior to contracts being awarded and construction starting. It is hoped that work can begin before the summer ends, the officer added.

Results of an engineering survey showed the building is structurally sound and situated in a good central location. Masonic officials reported. Replacement of the 58-year-old structure at today's prices was estimated at $500,000.

The 10 Masonic bodies which utilize the Temple include two local AF&M lodges—22 and 877; Royal Arch Masons Chapter 221; Tri-City Shrine Club; Knights Templar; James

Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay; Chapter 43, International Order of Job's Daughters; Gabriel Shrine 78, Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem; and two Exalted Star chapters—New Hope 432

Flood insurance available here

Areas which have been designated by the Madison County Board as locations "subject to periodic flooding" became eligible last week for federally subsidized flood insurance under the Flood Insurance Act.

Notification that the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) in Washington, D. C., had approved Madison County's formal application and authorized the sale of federal flood insurance was received by Jack R. Clifford, county zoning administrator.

The letter noted, "New as well as existing construction will be permitted to obtain subsidized flood insurance under the emergency program until the special flood hazard areas are identified. Once the flood hazard boundary map has been issued, however, subsequent new construction located in special flood hazard areas will not be eligible for flood insurance except at actuarial rates and therefore the rate making study to obtain such insurance."

It added that once the rate making study for the area, which is being prepared, is completed, the area will be eligible for the special eligibility program to participate in the regular government insurance program.

State Farm Life & Casualty Co., Bloomington, was designated by HUD as the servicing agent for the federal flood insurance which is available from all licensed property and casualty insurance agents.

Until the final flood hazard area maps are completed, property qualifying for the special insurance in this area now include areas subject to periodic flooding by the Mississippi River, Long Lake, Horseshoe Lake and Canteen Creek in State Park Place.

Checking seed purity

By MARY LOU MANNING

Copley News Service

Spreed-Wilco, Miller knows her seeds. And her weeds. She should because for the past two years she's been analyzing samples of seeds to test them for purity—separating the sampling into corn, soybeans, clover, alfalfa and pure seeds.

That's one of two tests run by the Seed Laboratory, located in the Department of Agriculture's division of plant industries. The other test is for germination, and they're done as a service for individuals as well as companies. The first five tests are conducted free of charge each fiscal year with any subsequent test done for an average charge of $2.

The process for testing goes something like this. A farmer sends a sample of corn seeds to the lab for purity and germination tests. The packet is opened by one of 15 girls comprising the laboratory and assigned a number. The corn seeds are then put into a blower where the empty seeds are separated from the rest. After weighing, a specified number of grams, depending upon the kind of seed, are portioned out for testing.

The corn is then sent to an analyst who dumps the seeds on a small, raised platform on her desk. Under a light and magnifying glass, she separates the components with tweezers into the four categories.

If only one noxious weed seed—one of seven weeds prohibited by law, such as marijuana or Canadian thistle—is found in the corn seed, the entire seed lot from which it came is declared "not saleable" and a stop order is issued against it, according to Ray Hayes, superintendent of the division.

Down by categories, percents are issued for them. If an analysis tag accompanied the sample, these percentages are compared with the tag for accuracy.

The pure corn seeds are then sent to the germination area where they are planted, via a weekend box with holes in it, in kimpak, a cotton-type material which is laid on a blotter soaked with water. These seeds are then placed in a "pre-chill" container similar to an icebox where the fresh and dormant seeds are exposed to 50 degree temperatures for a two-day period. Thoroughly chilled, the corn seeds are placed into another germinator where they will remain, under controlled light, moisture and temperature, until the end of the germination period. Once sprouting occurs, the plants are counted and a germination figure set.

"A good grass seed will have a purity of 90 per cent or better with germination of 80 per cent and up," said Hayes.

The purity and germination figures are put on a card and returned to the farmer.

"This process may take from 10-25 days, depending upon the germination time of the seed," explained Ms. Wilson. "If a sample has been sent for purity tests only, it may be mailed back the same day it is received—if it's not during our peak season."

The peak season for the lab is January through April, the time prior to serious planting in Illinois. In the past, during fiscal year 1973, approximately 16,000 tests were completed in the lab, 4,000-10,000 of these coming the first four months of this year. Soybeans comprised the largest number of tests with 11,725.

The division also employs six inspectors who draw samples from licensed seed dealers each year and send these samples to the lab to check for proper labeling. The analysis tag which accompanies seeds must be as follows as outlined in the Illinois Seed Law.

"The law dictates that the seed package must be properly and accurately labeled," the superintendent said. "It does not govern how the seed is advertised."

Any person selling seeds must obtain a permit through the division. They are issued on a 12-month basis for a fee of $2 for seed retailer, $15 for seed wholesaler and seed broker, and $17 for seed merchant who is both retailer and wholesaler. Violations of the Seed Laws aren't numerous.

"The industry is a good one, as a whole," Hayes inserted. "If we do find a violation, usually a warning is enough."

This year, most investigations dealt with farm seeds. For instance, soy beans had a great variation in germination due to adverse weather conditions, according to Hayes. The germination varied from 50-90 percent.

MADISON DRIVER HURT

Hallene Scott, 36, of 829 Greenwood St., Madison, sustained minor injuries in an accident last week at 20th Street and Madison Avenue. The driver of the second vehicle was Hattie McCallum, 2613 Terminal Ave.

Ordinances appropriating about $78,000 in federal revenue sharing received by Granite City for the past three entitlement periods have been passed by the City Council.

Acting on petitions and communications, the aldermen referred a recognition agreement of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers Local 325 of Alton, which would permit it to represent employees of the Granite City Humane Shelter, to the mayor and sanitation committee.

They also approved a final report of the TOPICS study, calling for $25,000 worth of

Few eligible women using VA benefits

More than two-thirds of the women veterans believed to be eligible for education and training under the current GI Bill have not yet used these benefits, and time is running out for those discharged before June 1, 1966.

This warning came from the Veterans Administration, which also noted most of these VA education benefits for veterans discharged before June 1, 1966, will expire on May 31, 1974, although this expiration date does not apply to on-the-job or apprenticeship training.

The remainder of the veterans eligible have eight years from the date of their discharge to complete their training.

About 100,000 of the 144,000 women who left military service since January 31, 1953, have not yet taken training under the GI Bill, according to VA.

This date (the end of the Korean Conflict) marks the beginning of the period of military service making veterans eligible for benefits under the current GI Bill, which became law May 31, 1966.

About 30 per cent of the 144,000 women potentially eligible have used all or part of their education benefits.

Vietnam era women veterans, like Vietnam era male veterans, are attending school under the GI Bill in large numbers.

The spring 1973 semester enrolled 16,000 women veterans under the GI Bill. Most of those who have trained have been in college. Of April 27, 1960, the 44,000 who have used their GI Bill had chosen college, and about 300 were job training.

To date, Air Force leads the services with 13,157 women veterans who have enrolled under the current GI Bill. The Army has 11,814; Navy, 10,865; the Marine Corps, 3,882; the Coast Guard, 17; and the Public Health Service, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, and others 4,443.

VA reminds women veterans that their military experience, especially in the health care field, often provides an excellent basis for further education and training, and that VA is a leader in university-affiliated health care training and in equal employment opportunity for women.

Women serve as VA hospital directors and as chiefs and directors in VA medical and allied health care fields, including the top agency posts in pathology and allied sciences, medical administration, allied health training, nursing, and dietetics.

Women also hold many non-medical administrative posts in VA, including jobs as personnel officers in VA hospitals and regional offices across the country.

Eyering governorship

By KEN WATSON
Capitol News Service
Springfield—There are some at the Statehouse who believe that Sen. of State Michael J. Howlett still has hopes of realizing his ultimate political ambition—to be governor of Illinois.

It could happen in 1976. There are several unique factors which support the Howlett for governor possibility. One is the fact that under the new Constitution the governor elected in 1976 will serve only a two-year term, thus clearing the way for the beginning of off-year election of governors in 1976.

The two-year limitation could discourage some potential rivals. It is believed to be a factor in the reluctance of current Gov. Dan Walker to definitely commit himself for a second term try and for his recognized drive to land a spot in the Democrat national ticket in 1976.

For should Walker be re-elected governor in 1976 he would find himself pretty much politically high and dry two years hence. A shot at the U. S. Senate might be tempting, but Republican Charles H. Percy would likely still be in the scene as a formidable foe.

Other Democrats might be reluctant to spend the time, money and effort for a mere two-year term. Howlett, however, probably would not. His personal recognition and popularity being so strong he could wage a comparatively minimum campaign in 1976.

count on momentum to carry him into a second, four-year term two years later.

The intensity with which Howlett has reorganized the Secretary of State's office and the determination he displays toward making an outstanding record have prompted renewed Capitol speculation about his gubernatorial hopes.

The deepening split in Democrat ranks, dramatized by the growing rift between Walker and Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, stimulates talk of a primary battle in 1976. Howlett would not only be a good middle-of-the-road alternative in a "dumb Walker" monument, but he has such a broad Republican following that he could reasonably be expected to win the election in the fall despite any bloody primary civil war.

Furthermore, downstate Democrats could be expected to rally behind Howlett more, than for instance, Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan, who might take on Walker with Daley's blessing.

However, probably a greater hurdle for Howlett would be former Lt. Gov. Paul Simon. Many Democrats are known to be eager to have Simon, still very much in the public eye, take on Walker in a rematch in 1976. Also should Walker bow out, or land a national ticket, Simon could make some logical claim for first choice as his replacement on the state ticket.

Age could conceivably be a handicap for Howlett, who will be 59 Aug. 30, but he is in the best of health, stays in good condition and looks much younger than he is.

Meanwhile Mike Howlett, certainly one of the state's most respected as well as able politicians, is keeping his options open, and will be ready to move with determination and skill if the potential opportunity does present itself.

Pertussin spray recall issued

Springfield, Ill.—Dr. Joyce C. Lashof, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, today announced that the makers of Pertussin Night-Time Medicated Vaporizer Spray have been asked to recall the product from the market.

The spray is an aerosol product, which is labeled for temporary relief of nasal congestion," she said. "The recall is based on a study by the Federal Food and Drug Administration (FDA) which has found 18 deaths associated with the spray since 1968." FDA emphasized that 17 of the deaths are associated with abuse or gross misuse of the vaporized product. One recent death, however, occurred under conditions of use that, at this time, are not considered to be abuse or misuse. This case involved the death of a five-year-old girl in Cleveland, Ohio.

Chesborough-Ponds, Inc., of Greenwich, Conn., manufacturer of the product, immediately agreed to co-operate in the recall. The company had previously advised FDA that it had halted all further distribution.

According to FDA, there is no question of safety involving any other Pertussin product, all of which have entirely different formulations. Dr. Lashof explained that the FDA believes the hazard potential in the Pertussin Medicated Vaporizer Spray to be increased by an ingredient in the product which is used as a solvent for the active ingredients and to reduce the pressure of the propellants.

Dr. Lashof advised consumers to discard, or return to the place of purchase, Pertussin Medicated Vapor Spray now on hand.

Reasons detailed for school votes

Madison school board members who voted last week against opening Dunbar School Aug. 27 outlined reasons for their votes Friday. The board last week voted 4 to 3 to reopen Dunbar on the recommendations from attorneys involved in a court case concerning integration in the Madison schools.

Board member Harold T. Fisk said Friday his vote was based on financial reasons and not racial. He said the board has known since November that to re-open the school would be a financial burden to the district. He said he, Board Member Donald Boyer and Board President James Childers were concerned about the financial issues when they cast minority votes last week. John Palchoff, superintendent of schools for the district, said he and the central administration also were opposed to reopening the school and that a previous news story that he supported re-opening was in error.

Palchoff said the opening of Dunbar will increase the district's costs this school year about $50,000 for additional secretaries, cooks and other employees, further stretching the already over-burdened budget.

He added that it has been estimated repairs to the school would cost between $65,000 and $100,000 in order to meet the requirements of the Life Safety Code permanently.

Driver faces four charges in Madison

Virgil Rigby, 46, of 2014 Missouri Ave. was charged with driving while intoxicated, leaving the scene of an accident, driving with an expired license and destruction of city property after his auto allegedly struck two cars, including an unmarked Madison police car, at Sixth Street and Cambridge Avenue in East Madison at 2:35 p.m. yesterday. Madison officers were called to assist Madison County sheriff's deputies at that location during a tavern disturbance. While police were in the tavern, a motorist in the parking lot struck the parked police car and the parked auto of Mary Rigby, 2850 Cayuga St. Police chased the car north on Cambridge Avenue at a high rate of speed and then east on Harris Street before driving the auto in the 1200 block of Harris Street where the driver was arrested.

HURT IN ACCIDENT

Robert Parsaghan, 12 Devon Hill Lane, was injured when his auto, stopped for traffic at 23rd Street and Madison Avenue, was struck from behind by the auto of James Marler, 2128 Washington Ave. at 5:40 p.m. Friday. Marler said the brakes of his car failed. Parsaghan was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital with injuries to his neck and chest.

New consumer

Scott said he sympathizes with consumers in these times of scarce beef and skyrocketing meat prices, but he warns that this is just the time that consumers should be most cautious in contracting for any meat offer that seems "too good to be true." "They may be left," said Scott, "sadly aware that it was just that."

Water Company asks higher rate

The East St. Louis and Interurban Water Co. announced today that it has filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission a request for a rate increase affecting the area served by the company.

R. W. Graves, vice-president and general manager, explained that the requested rate increase is a result of the added investment in water facilities in the company's service area as well as higher operating costs.

The requested increase would raise the average monthly residential bill from $5.93 to $7.14 or approximately 4 cents a day. The requested increase would raise the water bill for the minimum usage customer in East St. Louis and Granite City from $3.68 to $4.34 per month or approximately 3 cents per day.

The average monthly residential bill for those customers in the high service area would be increased from $8.19 to $7.57 or approximately a 5 cent-a-day increase.

The requested increase would raise the water bill for the minimum usage customer in Belleville from $3.31 to $4.76 per month or approximately 3 cents per day.

The annual overall requested increase in revenue would amount to approximately $1,355,000 to the company. The company is not requesting an increase in the rates for public fire protection.

Interim agreement in machinist strike

Negotiators meeting in Edwardsville last week reached an interim pact that ended a dispute between new car dealers and District 8 Members of the International Association of Machinists in the Quad Cities and surrounding areas.

The agreement called for area dealers to sign the same contract and to match any wage increases negotiated by the St. Louis association and District 8 members.

The bulk of the district's membership is in St. Louis and still involved in a strike-lockout. A number of this area's dealers' association who attended the negotiations in Edwardsville, said his group is "completely separate" from the Missouri dealers.

Bill Scaturro, owner of Bill's Auto Body, 2202 Madison Ave., said he is in full agreement. While striking auto mechanics on the side of the river were returning to their jobs, Scaturro announced a lockout, laying off all seven employees of customers voted at a meeting last week at union members of his independent service and repair facility.

The strike initially involved service departments of authorized new car dealers only.

Scaturro said, "There is no way one major contract, as proposed, can serve two states. For example, flat rates on repairs are different. Wages and other necessary expenses aren't the same either."

He said that he had refused to sign the agreement at Edwardsville because he does not believe in signing a blank contract.

"To me, it would be the same as my going to a store, purchasing merchandise on a time payment plan, signing a blank contract and telling the salesman to fill in the price and terms later."

Ed Hayward, executive vice-president of the Missouri association, said the two associations always have negotiated separately, and that dealers on the Illinois side of the river are perfectly at liberty to do what they want to do.

Scaturro said he intends if and when an agreement is reached, if the terms of that agreement were satisfactory.

The strike in St. Louis continues today as negotiators across the river have reached an impasse with no immediate end in sight.

morning that "considerable damage" occurred at the partially completed structure. "The roof is not completed and the wind pounded through the tarpaulin covering," he said. A lot of mud was washed into the basement and a big cleanup job will be necessary before construction can be resumed, he added.

Large hail pounded the area in several waves. Hail was the worst Granite City area where hailstones larger than golf balls broke numerous windows and damaged home siding.

The hail broke the glass dome on the top of the camper of Ernie Vaughn, 2810 Roosevelt Ave., broke a side window and dented the vehicle. Damage to the exterior of homes was reported throughout the neighborhood. Several residents later were seen beating the streets with shovels of hail piled up against the sides of houses, and lawns in some areas were covered in white resembling the aftermath of a snow storm.

Nearly all residents of the Quad-Cities experienced brief electrical outages and some lost power as long as three hours.

Telephone service to Granite City police headquarters in the basement of the City Hall was out for about three hours during yesterday's storm.

Both electrical power and telephone went out at 3:35 p.m. but telephones were reactivated until 7 p.m.

Water cascaded into many basements, especially notable in the vicinity of Spaulding, Lynch and Waterman avenues, an area plagued frequently with drainage problems. Many of the same streets were flooded and impassable.

Some vehicles stalled by high water were abandoned by owners at various locations.

Alarms systems at several business firms apparently were activated during the storm.

Traffic signal lights malfunctioned at several locations, reportedly continuing to work spasmodically through the morning, including those at Madison and Niedringhaus avenues.

Granite City firemen made more than 15 fire runs during the storm, many to houses struck by lightning. Most seriously damaged were homes at 2227 Cleveland Blvd., and 1617 Maple Ave., each sustaining damage estimated in excess of $1,000.

Firemen also worked downtown until 6 a.m. cleaning the streets and sidewalks. More solvent and a pressure pump have been offered by Granite City Steel Co. and the firemen were to resume work later this morning.

Wiring on the outside of the home of Tony Jackson, 3500 Lake Drive, was burnt and melted after being struck by lightning during a heavy rain storm late yesterday afternoon.

LOST STORAGE SHEET

The storage shed at the home of Chick Pyles, 1531 Maple St., was hoisted after a window was broken, unhooked and open. A cardboard box containing $338 worth of hand tools was stolen, it was reported at 9 p.m. Friday.

BURGLAR HOME

The home of Katy Babich, 2629 E. 24th St., was burglarized after entry was gained through an unlocked rear door. She said $80 was stolen from under a mattress in a bedroom.

FORGERY CHARGED

Richard Tyrone White, 34, of East St. Louis, was arrested at his home at 1 p.m. Saturday by Madison Police Investigator Paul Bargiel and East St. Louis police in warrants charging him with three counts of forgery. White allegedly cashed a forged $20 bill at a restaurant on the Red Cross Drive-In Liquor store, 312 Madison Ave., Madison.

CHARGE JUVENILES

Two juvenile boys, ages 14 and 15, were seen by Granite City police in an alley between the 2300 blocks of Benton and Adams streets allegedly breaking glass panes over which they were holding in bread wrappers. Two cans of paint remover were found nearby.

Recover body of drowning victim

The body of Miss Deirdre Dickerson, 12, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dickerson, 300 Adams St., Brooklyn, was found floating along the shoreline between the McKinley and Merchants bridges in Venice at 7:45 a.m. Saturday.

The girl drowned Tuesday, Aug. 7, while swimming with friends in the Chain of Rocks Canal near the old Chain of Rocks Canal Bridge.

An effort to save her by Kim Stans of Brooklyn was unsuccessful when she struggled, causing him to lose his hand on her. A five-hour search of the canal by the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department Rescue Squad was unsuccessful because of a strong current and debris in the canal.

Wilson Schrader, 642 Washington Ave., Venice, who was fishing, found the body and reported it to Robert Brunns, 451 Madison Ave., Madison, who then went to the Venice police station to report the incident.

Madison County Deputy Coroner Thomas Scaturro was summoned to the scene and pronounced Miss Dickerson dead there. She was taken to a Madison funeral home where she was identified by her parents Saturday morning. An East St. Louis funeral home is making arrangements.

Brenda Badgett is married at Christ Gospel Church

The wedding of Miss Brenda Badgett and Larry Hanson, 200 W. 22nd St., was solemnized in an evening ceremony on Aug. 4 at the Christ Gospel Church, 21st Street and Dewey Avenue.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Orvil Badgett, 205 Missouri Ave. The groom's mother, Mrs. Pauline Hanson, resides in Graham, Tex.

Preceding the service, Mrs. Norma Stogall, an aunt of the bride, sang "Blessed" and "O Promise Me," accompanied at the organ by Christina Townsend.

The Rev. Don Townsend performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with arrangements of summer blossoms and lighted tapers in branched candelabra at 7 o'clock. White satin bows marked the pews.

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin designed in an Empire style.

Long full sleeves of lace were set in the molded bodice, accented with tiny satin covered buttons, and the slightly gathered skirt of lace featured a detachable train that extended into a chapel length train.

She wore a crown of lace flowers etched in seed pearls to secure her bouffant veil of imported bridal tulle and she held a bouquet of white carnations interspersed with roses and greenery.

Maid of honor, Miss Glenda Badgett, a sister of the bride, chose a long blue tulle gown fashioned with a small stand up collar and long sleeves enhanced with ivory lace. Lace was repeated at the high rise waistline.

Miss Terri Knorworth, the groom's niece, served as bridesmaid. She wore an identically styled dress in pink tulle. Both carried bouquets of blue and pink tinted carnations.

Ted Engell, a nephew of the groom, was best man, and Roy Badgett, the bride's brother, served as groomsmen.

Invitations were presented over the guest book at a reception given at the Travelodge Motel following the ceremony.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Badgett selected a frock of white lace over black. The full length gown was trimmed in silver braid and complemented with a blue carnation corsage.

The former Miss Badgett graduated this year from Granite City High School. Mr. Hanson was graduated from Parsons Parsons (Kan.) High School and is employed as a major appliance salesman at Granite City. They will reside in Granite City.

New disaster relief for flood victims

Illinois flood victims who suffered property damage on government-owned land now are eligible for disaster relief from the Small Business Administration, an SBA official said today.

George Hunter, manager of the agency's Springfield disaster headquarters, said a "new interpretation" of existing disaster regulations and policies had opened the way for the eligibility. Hunter encouraged flood victims affected by the changes to apply for relief at SBA disaster offices "as soon as possible."

Hunter said a July 31 cutoff date for SBA disaster relief aid, in effect in 40 Illinois counties included in a Presidential disaster declaration, notwithstanding, persons covered by the new ruling will be given an ample time to file applications.

The nearest SBA office to the Quad Cities is the East St. Louis office, 422 N. Ninth St., open 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. Applications may be made to 274-3470 or 274-1019.

Hire 15 teachers

The Granite City Board of Education approved hiring 15 new teachers, effective Aug. 31, to satisfy for relief aid at SBA disaster offices "as soon as possible."

Johns, Charleston, Ill., home economics at GHS; Wendy A. Kambarian, 4043 Kathy Drive, Pontoon Beach, English at GHS; Diane F. Warning to tourists on foreign medications

By JOAN MURARO
Copy News Service
Springfield—Being sick is never any fun, but coming down with a foreign country with even a minor complaint can be disproportionately dangerous if the tourist tries to treat himself with local medications.

The Illinois Department of Public Health's division of disease control has issued a caution to travelers preparing for late summer or autumn trips outside the United States, warning against purchasing any over-the-counter drugs in foreign countries.

The department has suggested that doctors may wish to warn their patients against making such purchases since many drugs readily available overseas contain ingredients which are hazardous to some patients, and many do not carry any label warnings against these possible hazards.

Particularly, the department warns against cough and cold preparations, analgesics and antidiarrheal medications, since all of these are likely to contain potentially dangerous substances. Cough and cold preparations, for instance, are likely to contain substances which can cause fatal blood disorders, as do some of the analgesic preparations.

Tourists who overdo the strolling on the boulevards or the treks to the tops of the pyramids will do better with a warm bath and less strenuous activity, instead of rubbing on an unknown preparation purchased at a foreign version of the corner drug store.

Pregnant women, or women of childbearing age, should also remember, the department continues in its warning, that a number of drugs if taken in the first three months of pregnancy can cause congenital defects in the unborn infant.

A special warning was given about a popular over-the-counter item sold in Spain for minor upper respiratory tract difficulties. This has caused the death of one woman who treated herself with it, it was reported. In Israel, Mexico and some other countries respiratory preparations also are marketed which contain the same substance blamed for her death. Patients with chronic illnesses who take digitalis, anticoagulants or other drugs should carry a sufficient supply to meet their needs, since prescription drugs available abroad may vary in potency and quality. They are also urged to carry typewritten prescriptions stating the trade, generic and chemical name of any drug as well as the dosage, and those wearing glasses might do well to carry a spare pair or a prescription for replacement.

A special warning is given against injections which in some countries are administered in pharmacies. Tourists are advised to refuse these, since disposable injection equipment frequently is not used, and sterilization processes may be less than adequate.

WEAPONS CHARGE

SIUE theater students

A graduate student in theater at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has two options in preparing a thesis for the master's degree. He can do a research paper or he can do something creative—like direct a play or design the sets.

The current Summer Theater at SIUE has four graduate students involved who elected to go the creative route—three directing a play and one designing the sets and planning the lighting for one of the productions.

Jan Crow, West County, Mo., directed "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man in the Moon Marigolds"; Madeline Egoston, Spanish Lake, Mo., directed "City of the Blind Pig"; and James Davis, Elsah, directed "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?"

Mohammad (Shane) Abdolhosseini, responsible for the lighting and designing the sets of "Marigolds," did it in lieu of writing a thesis.

In addition to directing a play, Davis is doing the make-up for all four plays. "Makeup is a very important part of the actor's character," he says. Davis, who "could be very happy teaching" but wants eventually to perform, likes the fact that students have a voice in what the SIUE theater does. "The only way one can really learn is by doing. We are moving away from faculty controlling everything. This isn't true at all universities," he says.

Our goal at SIUE has been to have a student-run theater, with the faculty serving only as advisors," says William Vilhauer, director of the University Theater. "I think we are about to reach this goal. The students selected this summer's program, directed it, did the lighting, designing, costuming and makeup." Except for the Albee play, all sets were designed by students. Vilhauer planned this set.

Lynn Kluth, associate director of the University Theater, says, "You can't develop in an attitude of faculty dominance. Our prime intent is to create an opportunity climate for serious students of theater."

In addition to the eight theater faculty members, two undergraduate and two graduate student representatives make the policies of the University Theater. Each student director was asked to make a list of the plays he or she would enjoy directing this summer. From this list the faculty and student representatives chose four contemporary plays.

A light-hearted musical entitled, "Company," rounds out the Summer Theater. The director is Marti Carcinski, a graduate student from Hanwood, Mo. Miss Carcinski is not directing the play as a thesis.

Miss Brenda York and Edward Kofahl are wed

The Rev. A. E. Cope, pastor of City Temple Assembly of God Church officiated Saturday at the double ring ceremony uniting Miss Brenda York and Edward Kofahl in marriage.

Vows were exchanged at 6 p.m. by the young couple in a candlelight setting at Tri-City Park Tabernacle Church. The altar was banked with bouquets of white summer flowers with accents of pink and orchid and branched candelabra holding tall pink tapers and festooned with pink satin bows illuminated the white carpeted aisle.

Kathy Hall and Larry York, brothers of the bride, were candle-lighters.

Mrs. Edward Collins presided at the organ for the soloist, Mrs. James Palermo, who sang "The First Time Ever," "Wedding Prayer" and "We've Only Just Begun."

Miss York is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy York, 2204 Terminal Ave. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kofahl reside at 2002 Dale Ave.

The bride was presented in marriage by her father. She selected a gown of white organza over tulle featuring a Chantilly bodice and long full sleeves. Chantilly formed the stand-up collar and a pleated ruffe enhanced the bodice and edged the skirt hemline.

Matching lace complemented the slightly gathered A-line skirt which terminated in a chapel length train. A camelot headpiece of Val lace secured the cathedral length veil, edged in matching lace. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, carnations and pink baby's breath surrounded by lace.

Mrs. David LaBrott served as matron of honor, and Miss Lynette Kelley, Miss Lynette Bailey and Miss Cynthia York, a sister of the bride, were the bridesmaids.

Miss Lisa Palermo, a niece of the groom, and Miss Amy Adelsberger were flower girls. Scott Stone and Jeffrey Meador, a cousin of the bride, were ringbearers.

The adult attendants wore floor length gowns of pink flared organza, featuring Empire bodices. Bands of embroidered ribbon formed the high neckline and the cuffs of the full long sleeves.

The brides were designed in a pinatore effect, defined with a ruffe of self fabric. Each wore a picture hat and carried a natural colored basket of pink streamers. The flower girls carried miniature baskets of flowers.

The newly married Mr. and Mrs. Kofahl, served a rehearsal dinner in their home to the bridal party.

Mrs. Kofahl greeted guests at a reception held in the fellowship hall of the church immediately after the service. Miss Susan Owens, a cousin of the bride, presided at the guest book.

Lynne Lovacheff becomes Mrs. Michael Stelzleni

Miss Lynne Louise Lovacheff and Michael Jules Stelzleni were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony at 3 p.m., Sunday, performed by the Rev. Peter Stamboljiev at the Holy Trinity Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox Church in Madison. White summer flowers adorned the altar.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Lovacheff, 824 Niedringhaus Ave. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Stelzleni, reside at Paradise Lakeshore in Portland, Me.

She wore a bridal gown created of pure white peau de saie made in Empire style. The fitted bodice was lavishly appliqued with beaded Alencon lace and featured a peau de sole ruffle edging the V neckline.

Long fitted sleeves, fashioned with cut out lace motifs, terminated at the wrists in gathered ruffles. Her semi-gathered skirt was accented with lace motifs and a very wide border of delicate lace at the hemline.

She wore an Alencon lace Juliet cap etched with seed pearls to secure a mantilla veil trimmed with scalloped lace. A colonial bouquet of white roses, white carnations and German statice edged with camellia foliage was carried by the bride.

Attendants were Miss Kristie Christich, maid of honor, and Miss Marvonne Moehle and Miss Susan Kiyasheff, bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns of ivory chiffon designed with long fitted sleeves ending in cuffs of lace. Their Empire bodices had stand up collars of lace and a bib effect of embroidered flowers outlined with matching lace.

Satin bows of lilac, yellow and blue ribbon complemented the bodices of their gowns and each wore an ivory picture hat with matching ribbons. They carried wicker baskets of daisies, pom poms and baby breath in assorted colors.

best man with William L. Lovacheff Jr. and James A. Ewing as groomsmen. Lee Funk and Marvin Moehle Jr. seated the guests.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stelzleni. The newlyweds greeted their friends and relatives at a reception held in the Officer's Club at the Granite City Army Installation. Assisting were Marilyn Moehle and Stephanie Lovacheff.

A 1971 graduate of Granite City High School, the bride also was graduated from Lewis and Clark Community College this year. The groom is a 1968 graduate of South Callaway High School. He is attending the University of Missouri at Rolla.

Mrs. Stelzleni, mother of the groom, was attired in a light blue full length gown, complemented with bone accessories. Each of the mothers wore a phaenopsis orchid corsage.

Mrs. Lovacheff chose a pale pink silk shantung coat dress ensemble. The full length dress was fashioned with a mandarin collar and A-line skirt and the sleeves were accented with a sleeveless coat.

Bella Blankenship and Danny Kreher are wed

The wedding of Miss Bella Rae Blankenship, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blankenship, 2412 Roney Drive, and Danny A. Kreher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kreher, 3948 Lake St., was solemnized Aug. 4 at Emmanuel Baptist Church. Bouquets of mid-summer flowers and greenery with lighted tapers adorned the altar for the 6 p.m. double ring ceremony, performed by the Rev. Lowry Sutherland, pastor of Pontoon Beach Church of Christ.

Preceding the service, the church organist played "Always," "He," "With This Ring I Thee Wed" and "We've Only Just Begun."

Mr. Blankenship escorted his daughter down the white carpeted aisle and gave her in marriage. She wore a white organza bridal gown made with an Empire bodice. Delicate lace edged the square neckline and marked the high rise waist.

The slightly gathered skirt, fashioned with an apron effect, was trimmed in matching lace and she wore a crown headpiece to hold in place the long veil that extended into a cathedral length train.

Her bouquet was created of white roses forming a cross encircled with a garland of pink carnations and pom poms.

Mrs. Scott Cobb, matron of honor, selected a pink floral A-line gown designed with an Empire waistline, long sleeves and enhanced with a self fabric ruffle edging the round neckline.

The bridesmaids wore identically styled frocks in rainbow colors. Mrs. Sid Forister, a sister of the bride, appeared in yellow and Mrs. Richard Atkinson, the groom's sister, was attired in blue.

Each wore a white picture hat and carried a nosegay of varicolored flowers.

Serving as best man was Scott Cobb. Groomsmen and ushers included Sid Forister, a brother-in-law of the bride, Richard Atkinson, the groom's brother-in-law, Pete Forcass and Eddie Kenworthy.

Mary Rae Simmons, the flower girl, was dressed in a frock similar in style to the bride's gown, and she carried a tiny nosegay of colored blossoms. Kurt Atkinson was the ringbearer.

A reception was given at the Long Lake Firemen's Hall immediately following the service.

The rehearsal dinner was served at the Lewis and Clark Restaurant in East Alton.

Both young people graduated this year from

Granite City High School. The bride, a past honored guest of Bethel 43, Order of Job's Daughters, is employed at the First Granite City National Bank. Her husband works at Continental Boiler Co. and serves as chief of the Long Lake Junior Firemen.

Close link between energy and transportation underscores the inland waterway system's great value to the nation

An earlier comment by the National Waterways Conference discussed "Flood control—what we apparently haven't learned from history." Additional comment cites the relationship between inland waterways and the energy outlook. Roughly one-fourth of the energy consumed in America each year is used in transportation.

Doesn't it make sense then, in an era of fuel shortages, to make maximum use of the mode of transportation which gets the best result from each gallon of fuel consumed? The National Water Commission doesn't think so.

In the face of repeated studies showing that water transportation is the most fuel-efficient mode of surface transportation, the Commission has recommended to Congress that it burden inland waterway commerce with heavy fuel taxes and lockage fees.

As a direct result, water transportation rates would increase sharply, and much freight would be needlessly diverted to other, less efficient modes. Thus, movement of a given cargo over a given distance would require more fuel. This, at a time when fuel conservation should be encouraged to the maximum.

The more we waste fuel, the more we needlessly pollute the air. Diversion of freight from the more efficient water mode would also mean more noise pollution. Water transportation has been shown to be the quietest of all surface modes.

Even more important is the fact that more than half the nation's inland waterway traffic involves movement of coal, petroleum and the like—energy resources.

The National Water Commission would tax the bargelines out of much of this important, extremely competitive business. The nation as a whole would suffer.

Water supplies also are closely related to fuel supplies. In today's refining process, seven gallons of water are needed for each gallon of gasoline produced.

Developing technologies for conversion of coal to oil and gas will require even more water. At this crucial stage, the National Water Commission recommends that the federal government cease its direct involvement in construction of reservoirs and other water supply projects.

The Commission has narrowly viewed water as a commodity to be exploited only when there is a direct dollar return. It should be considered just the opposite—a valuable natural resource which, with wise government management, can be used, reused and reused again for the benefit of man. That's what multiple-purpose water resource development is all about.

To achieve this, the U.S. must have a sound national water policy. That policy, to be useful, must mesh—not collide—with sound national energy and transportation policies.

Vietnam vets gets aid

Copley News Service

Not every veteran of the Vietnam war came home assured that a job was waiting for him, even though the Veterans Administration and other government agencies are scouring the woods for new sources of veterans' employment in both private industry and on public payrolls.

But for the Vietnam veteran who simply can't find a job, there's a hopeful alternative. The VA will reimburse him if he wants to return to the classroom and prepare himself for better, higher-paying employment.

The VA will pay the veteran while he (or she) completes high school, goes to college, learns a trade—either on the job or in an apprenticeship program. The ex-GI can go to school at government expense for up to 36 months. But all his courses must be completed within eight years after discharge from the service.

In line with rising education costs—tuition, fees, books, etc.—Congress recently boosted monthly rates paid to veterans for tuition, knowledge or know-how.

Today the veteran attending school full-time is eligible for $20 a month if he has no dependents; $36 if he has one and $56 if he has two, with $18 allowed for each additional dependent. The rates decline for three-quarter or half-time classroom attendance and are less for apprenticeship, cooperative or on-the-job training.

and special term or flight instruction.

VA rules give the veteran a wide range of choices. An educational institution may include any public or private elementary, secondary, vocational, correspondence, business or flight training school; junior or teachers college; normal school, college or university; professional, scientific or technical institution. That includes just about every institution which provides education at the elementary school level or above.

The veteran who wants to pursue a medical residency course could do so provided he could show it would lead eventually to further medical education and that his ultimate goal is professional medicine.

Outside the United States, the veteran may return to school only at the college level or higher.

Because some of the rules and requirements for VA educational programs are complicated, agency officials suggest that veterans go to the nearest VA office for detailed explanations of school benefits available to them.

For example, avocational or recreational courses may be approved for GI benefits only if the veteran can show that they would lead to a completed business or occupation. Televised or radio courses would be approved by the VA only upon a showing that they were part of an effort to acquire a standard college degree.

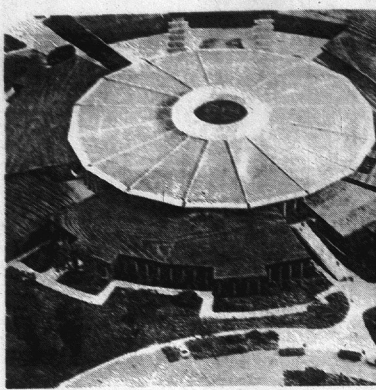

A veteran seeking VA benefits for flight training refreshers or courses must possess a valid private pilot's license and meet the medical requirements necessary for a commercial pilot's license.

In a preamble to the pamphlet outlining possible educational benefits for the veteran, President Nixon emphasizes that "these benefits reflect but a portion of the thanks you have earned from every American."

"In a real sense, we can never adequately repay you for the service you have given your country."

"However, I do hope you will take full advantage of the opportunities these benefits afford you as you make the transition from military to civilian life. I am deeply committed to assisting you in this transition, and I am particularly anxious that you utilize these benefits to further your education or to gain employment."

Mr. Nixon suggests that veterans who run into difficulties in seeking educational benefits available to them should communicate directly with the VA administrator. He has been instructed, the President points out, "to do everything possible to help you return to civilian life, and you have my personal promise that we shall fulfill that pledge."

ROUNDED EDUCATION—The school shown in this model, now under construction in Southern California, is a circular design with three-story core building and educational pods extending out from the sides.

Way-out schools are 'in'

Copley News Service

One kind of revolution in the nation's schools that receives little publicity outside of architectural magazines is the revolution in classroom construction.

Drastic changes in educational technology are illustrated in an array of designs flowing from architects' drawing boards as well as in many newly-built structures around the country.

There are windowless schools and corridorless schools, round classrooms and hexagon-shaped ones, high-rise institutions with rooftop playgrounds designed for crowded cities, and projects designed to meet the latest "education park" concept—a large campus containing all the schools serving a wide area surrounding, from elementary school to community college.

The school-building revolution stems not only from new theories about education and how best to operate a school system. Planners are also having to meet new social challenges posed by such problems as space shortage, environmental pleas, demands for "educational equality" and "relevance," and the emergence of such controversial issues as busing.

Another result of the social unrest that the old school rarely had to cope with is vandalism. Unbreakable windows are an important consideration in modern school design—if the school has any windows at all, that is.

Severely damaged schools have been built in recent years, though not only for protection against vandalism. Noise elimination, air-conditioning and earthquake protection are other reasons. It is also thought that students will be less distracted from their work.

Whether windowless schools have adverse psychological effects on students was a question facing the San Diego, Calif. Board of Education when it met recently to consider a basic design feature for replacement of buildings at 35 school sites in the district.

I think there is still controversy among psychologists, sociologists and to whom they have detrimental effects," said district Deputy Superintendent Dr. Howard Crofts.

School designers also are taking into account studies that have been conducted on the psychological and physical effects of what is called "thermal environment." Not all architects agree with some of the innovations.

A leading architect in the educational field, Robert Mosher, of La Jolla, Calif., who has designed for the University of California as well as for several public and private schools, said: "I find all this preoccupation with innovation and newness rather tiresome. They build windowless schools and bury them in the ground. I hear so-called experts talk about creating the perfect environment in terms of light and air-conditioning. They rationalize that it is more efficient and that kids are less disturbed, while all I can think is what a dreary, inhuman thing it is to be raising a generation of robots."

"My feeling is that the people who are setting the standards, while they are programs which architects have to respond to should go back and study the basic feelings of students and teachers, so as to help people learn and respond to each other as human beings."

slab, columns and toilets as permanent fixtures, enables a school to be entirely re-modeled by the normal maintenance crew during a summer vacation. Whole departments can be modified in a weekend, ready for returning students to take up their next courses.

Portable classrooms are a popular feature in schools now being designed with a flexibility that will accommodate drops in enrollment or population shifts.

Planners see the trend moving away from the standardized school building and beyond the "education park" concept to future "community centers" designed for mass education, social service, culture and recreation for everybody.

The need to build two versions of everything is a luxury we cannot afford. That's why General Motors—and many other companies—have already decided to "go metric" in their tooling. For the average American, probably no more than buying a new ruler

Winter wonderland

By BILL WINTER, Editor, Press-Record

Thoroughly modern 'Milli' will become meter reader

Guest column by Arch Booth, executive vice-president, Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The meter is coming! Sometime within the next few years, Congress will likely pass legislation designed to smooth the transition from our present system of weights and measures to the metric system, used by most of the rest of the world.

Actually, the metric system has been legal for years in the United States since July 28, 1896. And its use here has been increasing rapidly in recent years.

Scientists and medical personnel have long used metric measurements because it is much easier to calculate when everything is in multiples of 10. Recent veterans are familiar with metric distances in meters because the military services are shifting to metric standards for many purposes.

Most imported automobiles are built to metric standards. Athletes who train for international competition are familiar with metric distances. And observant housewives will have noticed that the labels on many packaged foods state ingredients in "grams."

So the metric system is already being phased in. It's really now just a question of accelerating that process, while slowly phasing out our present system.

Why? Because the rest of the world is metric, and it's a better method of measurement, one you get used to it.

As foreign trade becomes more and more important to us, American companies are finding it necessary to produce products built to two different sets of standards, one for the domestic, because parts and tools used for metric equipment are not compatible with those for non-metric machinery.

The need to build two versions of everything is a luxury we cannot afford. That's why General Motors—and many other companies—have already decided to "go metric" in their tooling. For the average American, probably no more than buying a new ruler and bathroom scales and learning some new terminology.

Companies with a big investment in tools and machinery, however, the switch can be very expensive indeed. Which is why the changeover needs to be accomplished slowly, and perhaps with some kind of tax allowance for the loss in value that will hit non-metric equipment.

Of course, minimizing confusion is also a very good reason for taking 10 years or so to complete the switch.

Here are some tips for "going metric" yourself:

Some of the key units of the metric system are very close to units we are familiar with, so close that they can be considered about equal for "mental picture" purposes.

Learn these and a few prefixes, and it's not hard to figure up or down from there. The meter, for example, is just a little longer than a yard (roughly 1.1 yards). The liter is very close to a quart (about 1.06 quarts).

The kilogram is a little more than two pounds (2.20462 lbs., to be exact).

Now, the prefixes. "Kilo" means "one thousand." A kilometer, therefore, one thousand meters.

"Centi" means "one hundredth." So a "centimeter" is one one-hundredth of a meter. "Milli" means "one-thousandth." That prefix causes a lot of confusion, because Americans associate it, incorrectly, with the word "million."

There are other prefixes, all signifying some multiple of 10, but this is a good "starter" set. Converting from metric to American measurements is complicated. But working within the metric system is a snap.

For example, to calculate the number of centimeters in a kilometer, all you have to do is multiply 1,000 by 100. All metric calculations are similarly easy. It's just a matter of moving the decimal point.

For comparison, try quickly calculating the number of inches in a mile (12 times 5,280).

Why Johnny can't read

Copley News Service

In Trenton, New Jersey, some school children spent an hour a day recently listening to a tape recorder. Purpose: to teach them to read.

In National City, Calif., a group of 50 youngsters spent one hour a week last year on the golf course. Purpose: to teach them to read (in this case, by learning how to swing a golf club better, a must for hitting that little white ball).

All around the United States, in fact, teachers are experimenting with new ways to teach kids how to read. And all for the same reason: Despite all the new-fangled gadgets in grade and high schools, Johnny STILL can't read.

U.S. Office of Education recently reported, for example, that 21 million Americans—the age 12 and over—lack the basic reading skills to deal with even the most simple expressions of modern life—such as reading the help-wanted ads. It was also found that nearly half of all high school students were reading problems never receive help in high school, and even among students who go on to junior college, between a third and a half require remedial instruction in reading.

Studies like these, of course, lead parents to blame the schools for the fact that Johnny can't read. One San Francisco mother, in fact, asked her son's school last year for its alleged failure to teach him how to read.

Whatever the answer, most studies do indicate that Johnny first has trouble reading in the first couple of grades.

Most children with reading problems seem to experience their first difficulties at the very beginning of the reading race—before the age of nine. Not having learned the fundamentals, reading and school become a puzzling and difficult and finally frustrating task from then on.

Others concede that the schools have made great strides in the 18 years since the book "Why Johnny Can't Read" hit the nation's book shops. But, they add, the schools have gotten too preoccupied with gadgets.

"Let's go back to using phonics," they say. Phonics is a method of teaching children to read by sounding out the words, and it has been around almost as long as language has.

"There is much talk about innovations in elementary schools," Watson Washburn, president of the Reading Reform Foundation, said a year ago. "But strangely enough, a word has been said in official educational circles about the most beneficial innovation possible—installing in all schools the alphabetics phonetic method of reading instruction, which 2,500 years of experience... tell us... is the best if not the only way to teach children to read."

Whatever the answer, most studies do indicate that Johnny first has trouble reading in the first couple of grades.

Carol Jones weds David Lee Bailey

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Carol Jones and David Lee Bailey, at the Northside Pentecostal Church, 1351 Shepley Drive, Bellefontaine Neighbors, Mo. The Rev. Kenneth V. Reeves and the Rev. Walter S. Quinn officiated at the 8 o'clock evening ceremony on Aug. 3.

Miss Jones is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Jones, 2352 Miracle Ave. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bailey, reside at 929 Dennis Ave., St. Louis County, Mo.

"One Love," "More" and "Whither Thou Goest" were selections sung by Miss Marsha Wilson and Mrs. Virgil Hudson. They were accompanied by Mrs. Marvin Hessler at the organ.

Candelabra holding burning tapers provided light for the service. Serving as candlelighters were Tom Donovan and John Tientor, who also seated the guests.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage. She wore an Empire style gown of white organza and lace.

The long organza sleeves were fashioned with wide lace scallops over the wrists and scalloped lace formed the highwaist waistline, accented the slightly gathered full length skirt and created the narrow standup collar.

Her full length mantilla veil created a bridal illusion she edged in matching lace and she carried a bouquet of white roses and greenery festooned with red and white streamers.

Miss Patricia Angell, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, serving with bridesmaids, Miss Jeannette Stricklin, Mrs. Randy Tolliver, Miss Terry Greco, Miss Robin Greer and Miss Mary Mitchell. Angela Fish was the flower girl. The ring bearer was Anthony Fish and serving as page was Kelly Hughes.

The honor maid was attired in pink and the other attendants appeared in a rainbow of colors, using lilac, powder blue, yellow, peach and mint green.

Their gowns were fashioned with Empire bodices with a-line skirt of laffets and miro mist, accented with white rose lace. Each wore a picture hat to match her gown and held a red rose.

The flower girl wore an A-line gown fashioned with a pink yoke and skirt of various colored panels. She carried a basket of rose petals.

Fred Bailey Jr., brother of the groom, served as best man with Ron Smith and Jack Bailey, cousins of the groom, and Walter Quinn III, Dan McClain and Bill Lattery as groomsmen.

O'Gara-Stauffer wedding

St. Elizabeth Catholic Church was the scene of the wedding of Patricia JoAnne Stauffer and Patrick Edward O'Gara at 2 p.m. July 14.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stauffer, 2408 Roney Drive. Mr. O'Gara is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh O'Gara, 1601 Spring Ave.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white princess style gown of dotted swiss, full length, fashioned with long bell sleeves. She wore a picture hat with a band of flowers and carried a princess cascade of white snow crystal pom poms, white roses and blue carnations.

Tanna D. Waters and Richard Wright were attendants for the couple. Carissa Jean Stauffer served as flower girl.

The honor attendant chose a lime green princess style dotted swiss gown enhanced with puff sleeves. She wore a picture hat and held a cascade of blue carnations, lime green pom poms and carnations.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of ELLIS "RED" ANGLE, who passed away Aug. 12, 1968.
There is a link death cannot sever. Love and remembrance last forever. Sadly missed by Wife, Children, Grand Children and Great Grand Children.
34-8-13

In loving memory of FELICIA OWCA, who passed away August 14, 1972.
God saw her getting weary. He did what he thought best. He put his arms around her. And whispered come and rest. The golden gates stood open. She could no longer stay. And with farewells unspoken she gently passed away. And to all who have their wife and mother, cherish her with tender care. You will never know heartache. Until she is no longer here. Sadly missed by husband, daughters and grandchildren.

Madison $3.7 million budget for Lewis & Clark

A special meeting last week by the Lewis & Clark Community College Board of Trustees resulted in the approval of a tentative budget for the 1973-74 school year in the amount of $3.7 million.
School business manager Eugene Snyder, in detailing the budget, said the estimated revenue for the year should total almost $4 million, with $175,000 of that amount to be derived from fees paid by other districts which send students to Lewis & Clark.
Snyder said average figures showed that statewide 4.7 per cent of a junior college's total revenue comes from local sources, including 36.3 per cent from local taxes.
The honored guest received many gifts.
Those attending were Mesdames Victoria Peterson, mother of the prospective groom, Katie Brunch, JoAnn Murphy, Paul Besserman, Aleene Stockert, Florence Novosel, Karen Eugenia, Ann Polach, Betty Harrell, Mary Vrenick, Miss Bucherich, Chris Bowler, Carol Chaboude, Leonard Zutt, Judy Whitaker, Georgeann Georgeff, Dorothy Graklanoff, Caroline Sanders, Dorothy Kaman, Josephine Gersert, Molly Besserman, Mary Yoboy, Ann Herman, Alice Novosel, Mary Thebeau, Norma Stroder, Josephine Williams, Judy Griffin, Sophie Kraus, and Misses Janice Stockert, Marian Strickland.
Miss Maccho will become the bride of Harry Peterson, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Peterson of East St. Louis, Oct. 13 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Madison.
